Competition Venues:

The Carroll and Jane Rikert Nordic Center

The Rikert Nordic Center at The Bread Loaf Mountain Campus, named for longtime College treasurer Carroll Rikert and his wife Jane, features 50 kilometers of meticulously maintained nordic trails bordered by national forest. The Robert Frost Cabin, a national historic landmark, is located nearby. Close to the alpine Snow Bowl facilities and circling Middlebury’s Bread Loaf mountain campus, the Rikert Nordic trails meander through the pristine woods celebrated in Frost’s poetry.

In the fall of 2011, construction of the 5k FIS Homologated Tormondsen Family Race Course was completed with the help of Middlebury alum and renown trail designer John Morton. A 5k snowmaking system is being installed for the 2012 / 2013 season.
Middlebury College Snow Bowl
The third-oldest ski area in Vermont, the Middlebury College Snow Bowl has hosted college winter sport competitions for nearly 70 years, and in combination has been, with the Rikert Nordic Center, a multiple year host of the Eastern Intercollegiate Ski Association Championships during the annual Middlebury College Winter Carnival.

The Snow Bowl’s two best-known trails, the Allen and Ross on the mountain’s north face, are classic New England FIS homologated race venues, hosting juniors, masters, F.I.S. and college ski racers almost every week during the ski season. During the summer of 2006 the Allen and Ross underwent significant construction to provide a wider, safer and higher quality skiing, training and racing venue. The Snow Bowl, just half an hour from campus, provides on-snow training opportunities daily for the Middlebury alpine teams, and the ski area’s staff and volunteer workers have become justly famous for running high-quality competition.
